TEAS.

FERMENTED TEAS!

In drawing public attention to Fermented Teas we are aware that we are in advance of the times, and that we shall have to encounter very strong opposition from people whose prejudice is stronger than their reason. Fermented Teas, as a rule, are absolutely pure, besides being the most wholesome. They are prescribed and used by the principal physicians in this city. Fermented Teas are consumed by 450,000,000 out of a total of 500,000,000 of people who drink tea. In this case the majority must be right, as Fermented Teas are a principal part of their daily food.

Our Russian Mixture at 75c per lb is a pure Fermented Tea, and highly aromatic. Russians, English, Irish and Scotch are delighted with this tea because it reminds them of "home."

The racing season was inaugurated at New Orleans yesterday.

A VERDICT in the CHITTENDEN murder case will be reached to-day.

The mercury went down to 10° yesterday, the mean for the day was 19.2°.

The University of Louisville yesterday conferred diplomas upon eighty-four students.

NEARLY all the river plantations for a hundred miles above Sureport are under water.

The Whisky Bill pending in the House, like the genuine article, gains strength with age.

The new Produce Exchange began operations yesterday, the start being in the nature of a boom.

GEN. GRAHAM has checked the victorious march of the False Prophet by defeating the rebel army.

An act to incorporate the Citizens' Fire and Marine Insurance Company of Louisville has passed the House.

The citizens of San Francisco yesterday raised $5,200 for the Ohio valley flood sufferers, of which Jeffersonville gets $1,000.

The House Committee on Public Lands recommends the forfeiture of all grants made to the Northern Pacific unearned up to 1879.

The President gave a State dinner at the Executive Mansion last evening, which was attended by Senators, Representatives and journalists.

Two COUNTERFEITERS, PANKS ALLSTOCK, of this city, and ELIAS WEBB, of Boyle, were convicted in the United States Court yesterday.

THE Republicans of Ohio will meet in convention at Cleveland April 23 for the purpose of selecting delegates to the Chicago Convention.

PUBLIC business was suspended in the House of Representatives yesterday, and the memory of the late D. C. HASKELL, of Kansas, eulogized.

A FIERCE snow-storm played havoc with the telegraph wires about New York and Boston yesterday. The Dominion had its share of the blizzard.

ALL shades of politics in New York—and there are many of them—have begun to fret and frown, that the two National Conventions have been called.

CONSIDERING that there was a big banquet at Frankfurt Wednesday night, the amount of work done by the Legislature yesterday shows up very well.

SENATOR PENDLETON has introduced a bill in the Senate to facilitate the settlement and development of Uncle Sam's iceberg, known geographically as Alaska.

The world and the rest of mankind will rejoice to hear that the storm door has been closed and that the weather is moderating up in the arctic regions of Dakota.

REPRESENTATIVE W. H. PAYNE, of Warren county, has resigned his seat in the State Legislature in consequence of ill health. His successor will be elected March 8.

The Adair county murderers, the FITZPATRICK brothers, under sentence of death, will not hang at Columbia to-day as advertised, the Governor having respited their execution until March 21.

The lower house of Congress yesterday passed the Pleuro-pneumonia Bill. It provides for the organization of a Bureau of Animal Industry. The chief of the department is authorized to appoint two competent agents, whose duty it shall be to report upon the best methods of treating, transporting and caring for the animals and the means to be adopted for the suppression and extirpation of contagious pleuro-pneumonia.

SENATOR WILSON, of Knox, yesterday introduced a bill in the State Senate providing that all fines and forfeitures recovered against persons for violating any local option law, or any local law regulating or prohibiting the sale of spirituous, vinous or malt liquors, or other intoxicating beverage, shall be applied to the erecting and repairing of school-houses, and furnishing the same with school furniture, in the precinct wherein the offense may have been committed.

The State Board of Health is anxious to obtain the views of officials and physicians on the "influence of floods upon health." Little has been written on the subject, and that little is so scattered through the transactions of medical societies and journals that it is of no practical use. It is the purpose of the board to make a systematic effort to collect all the facts in regard to the floods of the present and past years, in so far as they relate to the health of the people of the State, that in the future it may be able to calm useless fears in regard to apparent dangers and intelligently combat the real ones.

Death and Accident.
(Special to the Courier-Journal.)
FRANKLIN, Ky., Feb. 28.—Ex-Jailer Logan Dismann retired last night apparently in good health. About 3 o'clock this morning his struggles disturbed Mr. Johnson, the man he lived with, too late for any knowledge of his suffering or to afford him any relief. He died a few minutes after his condition was known.

Mr. D. W. Saunders, an elder in the M. E. church, received severe injuries from a tree falling on him to-day.

Condemed Criminals.
(Special to the Courier-Journal.)
SPRING LICK, Ky., Feb. 28.—The Leitchfield Circuit Court is still in progress. William Frewitt, charged with committing rape, was given ten years in the State penitentiary, and Andrew Skaggs, for killing Tom Copeland, was sent for three years. A motion for a new hearing was overruled in both cases.

GENERAL CAPITAL NEWS.

(Special to the Courier-Journal.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—At the outset the debate in the Senate to-day on the proposed steel cruisers was not in tone and time in method. McPherson, Jones (Fla.) and Miller (Cal.) were the speakers. The only new point was that Congress having legislated last year for the retirement of wooden vessels, it became imperative to replace them with modern war ships as promptly as possible. Mr. Jones made this discovery, which was emphasized by Mr. Miller, who added that the navy would not be complete until, in addition to steel cruisers, we built ironclads able to cope with those of France, England, Germany and Italy.

Mr. Butler, who was remarkably quiet after his outburst of yesterday, read a letter from Rear Admiral Rogers, correcting a statement that England buys her guns from Krupp and torpedoes from Austria. The Rear Admiral showed that England makes her own guns, and advised this country to do the same, since we have a breech-loading cannon in the country. It would be a long time before we could get together the plant and establish the manufacture of ordnance of equal caliber of those of European nations.

It remained for Mr. Bayard to give an interesting turn to the debate. This he did by a vigorous attack on Secretary Chandler. The attack was made the more bitter, owing to the fact that the Delaware Senator supported the bill. After referring to the misadministration of the navy-yards, he said:

"Senators must not ignore the fact that, for one reason or another, there is in the country a great deal of distrust of the head of the Navy Department. It was not, in the opinion of many, who like myself are most anxious to vote liberally for supplies to every department of the Government and make the fullest and amplest appropriation—it was not a wise thing for the President to have selected the present head of that department. This is a question of personal results. It is a question of the fitness of the individual for the place. There was nothing in the antecedents, nothing in the prior occupation, nothing in the requirements or profession of the individual referred to, that, in my opinion, rendered it wise that he should be chosen for that place, and I should be reluctant to give place to any man, I certainly have not the slightest wish to be more than just and courteous, but there are public questions, and they should be discussed in a fair, open and public manner."

Mr. Bayard was not one of those who are fond of calling "a spade a spade" (this was a rap at Butler, which made the South Carolinian color to the roots of his hair). He believed that frankness and straightforwardness are essential in dealing with a public subject, and it is in that spirit and no other that I approach."

Mr. Chandler, of course, was not a rattled man, but he was a man of means. On the other hand, he has brains and education and conducts himself on the floor of the House in a dignified and sensible manner. He will be recognized by the Speaker to make the opening remarks on the insult, and his speech will be temperate, manly and dignified.

RANDALL'S DELAY.

AN UNEASY FEELING AMONG DEMOCRATS AT THE TARDINESS OF THE APPROPRIATION COMMITTEE.

(Special to the Courier-Journal.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—There is an uneasy feeling here among Democrats at the slow and seemingly interminable progress that is being made by the House Committee on Appropriations. When you talk to a member of the committee about the tardiness of their work he makes all sorts of excuses and promises quick work in future. This matter has gone on for the last month. It is now openly charged that Mr. Randall is deliberately delaying the appropriation bills for the purpose of thrusting them in against the tariff bill in hopes that he will be able to defeat tariff legislation. Your correspondent has from the best of authority that Mr. Randall promised Speaker Carlisle five weeks ago last Monday that he would report in a few days three or four of the appropriation bills. Instead, however, of doing this, but one bill has been reported, and that the most insignificant one.

It is also well known that Mr. Randall is not the only Democratic member of the committee who is not playing a fair, square game with the House. There are two others who will soon be publicly known. It is enough to say at present, that if Mr. Randall does not hurry along his bills his whole scheme will be given away, and in perhaps time enough to defeat him and his Pennsylvania friends.

NEWS NOTES.

CAPT. CUTTS—LINCOLN'S LAST DISTRIBUTION ORDER—CUTTS—STAR-ROSE DEVELOPMENTS.

(Special to the Courier-Journal.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Gen. Rosecrans introduced in the House to-day a bill which is receiving a good deal of adverse criticism from officials of the army and others cognizant of the facts. The bill is to restore to the rank of Captain in the army, J. Madison Cutts, formerly a Captain of the Eleventh Infantry. Cutts was dismissed for disgraceful conduct. The Galt House at Louisville was the scene of his disgrace. He was detected peeping through the transoms in the bridal chamber. He was court-martialed and dismissed the service, and now wants to get back.

Secretary Lincoln said to-night that he had issued his last order in regard to the distribution of food to food sufferers. He expressed his approval at the manner in which the work had been done. He does not think that Congress will appropriate money to pay for property destroyed by floods.

The Democrats of the Greenback (Ind.) District will make a mistake if they fail to return Col. Matson to Congress. He is a good, industrious and capable man, and devotes his entire time to the best interests of his constituents.

W. S. Odell, the man employed by the Republicans of Indiana to assess the Indiana emigrants at Washington, is a resident of Hendricks county. Ind. Hendricks county is the hot-bed of the proscriptive party in the Hoosier State.

An official of the Department of Justice said to-night that there would be very likely

Cox. He always makes his point at the right time and in the right place.

Gen. Boynton will be well prepared to meet Keifer and his charges Saturday. The ex-Speaker has been kept busy all week with a score of detectives dragging the slews of the hotels in hopes of finding some respectable scoundrel who would swear that he had heard Boynton make corrupt propositions to the great and illustrious Keifer, who leads the grand party of high moral ideas in the House.

The heart of Representative Tom Robertson, of Kentucky, is nearly broken over the passage of the pleuro-pneumonia bill.

There is a great deal of the daddy in young John S. Wise, of Virginia. It is a pity that his heart has been politically converted.

Wonder what has become of Representative Clay's bill to repeal the Civil Service law?

THE PLEURO-PNEUMONIA BILL.
PASSES THE HOUSE BY A VOTE OF 155 TO 127.

(Special to the Courier-Journal.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The House passed the Pleuro-pneumonia Bill to-day by a vote of 155 to 127. The Republicans voted solidly for it and about sixty Democrats joined them. A number of Democrats, who did not care whether the bill passed or not after it had received the amendments which were made to it, did not vote at all. The bill is not by any means the measure it was when brought in. The greatest change made in it is the striking out of the fourth section. This section provided for quarantine of any State in which the existence of cattle disease was reported to the Agricultural Department, and giving the power of investigation and action in regard to disease to the Commissioner of Agriculture and two others to be appointed by the President.

This section was the cause of the fight against the bill. As soon as it had been stricken out the strong opposition, which would have otherwise defeated the measure, was withdrawn and it went through.

It is an experiment to see if Government action can suppress cattle diseases. During the debate Mr. Randall had a little talk with Calkins, of Indiana, and Jones (Fla.), of Missouri. Randall moved to recommit the bill before the fourth section had been stricken out, and Mr. Calkins said: "Well, then, that will kill the bill."

"I deny," said Mr. Randall, "that to recommit the bill, a proper constitutional measure on this subject may be brought in, will defeat it."

Mr. Calkins sat down, and Mr. Hatch said the bill, even with the fourth section in it, was constitutional.

Mr. Randall replied that he would rather have the sense of the House on that subject than the bare assertion of the gentleman from Missouri.

Mr. Hatch sat down too.

The bill should not have passed. It is not a preventive, much less a cure. It will be striking at the Senate should pass the bill, therefore it is still improbable that the bill will become a law.

BISMARCK'S INSULT.

THE SERIOUS OPINION EXPRESSED BY THE HOUSE IN REGARD TO THE MATTER.

(Special to the Courier-Journal.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—The opinion of the House in regard to the position which Bismarck has taken about the Herr Lasker resolution is evidently one of seriousness. This was shown by the Executive Committee of the Liberal Union of the German Reichstag were treated to-day. Those resolutions say that Bismarck does not represent, in his action, the opinion of either the German Reichstag or the people of the German nation.

Mr. Duester presented these resolutions under a question of privilege. As the matter was not of that character, the Speaker so ruled. The feeling of the House was pretty fairly represented when it was unanimously decided that Mr. Duester should proceed. He made
